New York, Sept. 8.—The Herald's Washington special says: It appears that, besides Dickinson, one of the jurors was Olcott, and that the third is Doniphan; that these men promptly reported what had happened to the court; that to one of them, the juror who approached him is well known in Washington; that he presented a hand full of bills to the juror and stated to him that if he would see there was a hung jury in behalf of the two Dorsey's, it did not make any difference what became of the defendants; that there is reason to believe that other jurors have been approached, repelled approaches, but had not stated the fact to the court, but will doubtless now do so; that on the other hand, there are reports as to one or two jurors who are alleged to have yielded to the temptations he'd out.

There is one thing to be said for the aristocrats in the British army—when there is war they go to the front at once and among the first. When the guards and the rifles, the lancers, the horse, etc., are under fire, there is hardly a man in England, Ireland or Scotland that is not liable to be vacant or have its succession changed at any moment. The army aristocracy of England have all the faults that characterize the order everywhere, but we do not think they would lounge or dance at Washington if there was fighting in Arizona or prospect of war in Dakota.—Report.

Political News.—PHILADELPHIA, September 11.—A very interesting bit of political news has leaked out. Quay, who has been here to organize the Cameron forces. Both these gentlemen have told their friends that Beavers cannot so far have proved a failure, and that he has no chance for election. Governor Hoyt was heard to say emphatically that by election day Beaver wouldn't be in the field. There is a plan on foot with which Hoyt is in sympathy, to withdraw Beavers and put up a named ticket which the Independents can support. A conference of the State is to be held for that purpose to-morrow.

Of the scattering votes John Chase, straight Greenbacker, should have about 1,000 and Vinton, Independent Republican about 300. The Republican Congressmen are all four elected by nearly the same plurality, a gain of two Congressmen, or a net gain of one allowing for the one lost by the apportionment. The returns for the Legislature show no Republican gains of six Senators and fourteen Representatives, giving the Republicans a majority on joint ballot.

The levee broke and they raised the head as far as possible, while the water crept over his face and he was drowned in their arms.

Beautiful Words.—We give place to the little address of Delegate Quay, on the occasion of his reception at Florence. Though our political views may be opposed to his, and it is our privilege, and we believe our duty, to speak here to the election of another man to the position Mr. Quay occupies, yet we, and we believe our readers can appreciate words of beauty falling from his lips. We are indebted to the Enterprise for the reception report: Ladies and gentlemen, I thank you for your cordial greeting. Many years ago I made Arizona my home, and I have happily lived longer here than any English speaking man present to-night, and if there is one place upon this earth that man can love better than another it is his home, and this applies to the home of their adoption as well as to that of their birth. The home of our adoption is but a change of chambers in the parental mansion. Home, mother, are the same words, and we believe the best of all. They are the best and holiest in our language.

Of all the years I have lived in Arizona I count those the best and brightest I have lived in your midst. The little advancement and success I have had in life, came to me here and is largely due to the citizens of Pinal county. If any event was wanting to make that success more grateful and pleasing, you have tonight supplied it. My aim shall be to merit in the future the esteem and confidence you have given me. As this meeting has no political significance you cannot expect any discussion of the issues of the day—they have no place here—they are strangers to gatherings of this kind. At a proper time, if you desire, I will give you an opportunity of listening to my views on these issues. I again thank you, especially the ladies, for the cordial greeting you have given me.

GLOBE NEWS.—[chronicle.] We learn through private sources that Nadaski and several licks have left the re-creation to join his band, now on the war path. It is thought by the scouts that he will soon gather his scattered forces, but it is anticipated that he will be captured before accomplishing his purpose. We hope for his early capture and hope it will be necessary to kill him in the attempt, for the old rascal is the most dangerous of all the Apache chiefs.

Hon. G. H. Oury arrived in Globe last Thursday, and in the evening was met by a number of enthusiastic Democrats at the residence of Francis Fitch, Esq. About eight o'clock the guest was greeted by a band of music and a cheer from the Pioneer band. Mr. Oury made a few remarks in acknowledgment and was followed by other speakers. Mr. Oury leaves today for the south.

P. P. Wilcox, the new Indian Agent at San Carlos, arrived in Globe yesterday and registered at the Pascoe House. We found him to be an intelligent and agreeable gentleman, and found that his views on the Indian question are entirely in accordance with those of our residents. He has lived on the frontier long enough to know that the Indian respects ought to be force. The Judge states that in the management of the Apaches there will be to jealousy between the Agency people and the troops, and they will act in perfect accord. In regard to passing, the Agent will issue but few, and those for limited periods and to trustworthy Indians. Both military and civil Apaches have been notified that in case of outbreak the Agent does not desire the troops to make any prisoners, and he has impressed it upon the Apache mind that Crook, the man whom they most fear, is now back and ready to adopt the same vigorous tactics in which he was so successful before. The Judge is having many improvements made at the agency, is putting up several new buildings, and expects soon to have things in very fair shape. We think Judge Wilcox is the right man for the place.

[Silver Belt.] Globe (not Old Globe) copper stock is quoted by the New York American board at 11 cents, 2,000 shares having sold at that price on the 31st ult. When it reaches zero it will have touched its real value.

The Buffalo started up the first of the week and is running smoothly. We would like to give a more extended notice of this valuable property, but we were unable to visit it this week.

George B. Walker has disposed of his interests in the Howard and South Pioneer mining companies and resigned his superintendency of the Howard. C. H. Comstock has been appointed superintendent of the Howard.

The reduction works of the Long Island company are rapidly approaching completion. The furnace is now in operation and the product of the works is already greater than any thirty-ton furnace now in blast, and will soon be duplicated by the erection of another furnace of like size, which will give a daily average of from 32,000 to 36,000 pounds pig copper, without half testing the capacity of the mine, as, in fact, the supply of ore seems to be unlimited, and it is believed that a number of furnaces of thirty-ton capacity could be kept going on the ore now available. To the successful results of the working of the Old Globe we believe credit is in a great measure due to J. J. Williams, superintendent of the mine and furnace.

Patterson and Telf, the men who took stock in Flagstaff of Hill and others, were captured near Will's ranch, on the Salt River, on the 4th instant, by the pursuers, assisted by Thomas P. Kerr and Wm. Flippin, who so arranged that the thieves were taken without an opportunity of resisting, which they undoubtedly would have done. They have been tamely submitted to the change of a term in the penitentiary. They are regarded as desperate men, especially Telf, who has the reputation of having killed several men lately on the A. T. R. R. A proposition was made to hang them, but, upon a promise of the prisoners to show where the residue of the stolen stock was, and upon a vote being taken, the vote stood three against three, consequently they will be sent to prison and surrendered to the civil authorities. We claim a common heritage in the grand history of the party which saved the American Union from dismemberment, rehabilitated a disorganized country, and has since so managed the finances of the nation that today the credit of the United States is unparalleled.

THE EPIPHANY will welcome the resurrection of the Independent with almost fearful joy. Not because it will hurt the patronage of the form, or journal, but owing to the circumstance that running a daily newspaper is so delightful an occupation one feels like dividing with all the world. There is something about the business of conducting a newspaper that is fascinating in the extreme, particularly that part of it which requires its owner to pay every week and collect when he can. It is amazingly exciting to the editor, owing to his knowledge that he is in danger of being pounded half to death, every other day, with the butt end of a self-shooter in the hands of a beligerent candidate. The life of a reporter is also one of absolute poetry, especially when he is required to write up the proceedings of a Republican convention, or interpret the address of a Townsman Mayor. The joy in being called a liar every half hour, thrown through a window once a week, and persistently anathematized by every member of a community, from a minister of the gospel down to an old maid, is equalled by the comfort he experiences in constantly carrying a concealed pillow in the seat of his pants. It is all these delightful little incidents that go to make up the sum of the life of a newspaper man, that makes us feel as though the staff of the Epiphany could spare a portion of its surmountings to the people of the Independent, without feeling the loss.
